GUN SHOT WOUND PROVES FATAL.

MRS. JAMES CANNING SUCCEUMBS TO HER INJURIES.

Accidental Discharge of a Shotgun in the Hands of Her Son, Walter, Tears Away the Calf of Her Leg and Injury Subsequently Results in Death.

Mrs. James Canning was shot in the right leg on Sunday with a shotgun in the hands of her son, Walter, resulting in the tearing away of the calf of the leg, and making a very ugly wound. The wound was dressed as soon as possible and it was hoped at the time that the old lady would recover, but in spite of all that could be done for her she passed away on Tuesday afternoon, about forty-eight hours after the accident. The story of the shooting is as follows:

Mrs. Canning had been away from home on a visit and during her absence Walter had borrowed a shotgun from a friend with which to shoot the birds that had been stealing berries about the place. When Mrs. Canning returned she noticed the gun and inquired what it was doing there. The case was explained and she advised that the weapon be returned to its owner.

Walter picked up the gun to carry out his mother's advice, when, noticing some rust about the breech, he took a cloth and commenced to wipe the piece. Suddenly, just as Mrs. Canning was passing, the gun exploded, taking effect in the calf of the leg and tearing away nearly the entire muscle. A physician was summoned at once and he dressed the wound, making the lady as comfortable as possible. While almost the entire muscle was torn away, the bone of the limb was not injured in the least, the muzzle of the weapon being only about six feet distant when discharged.

It was hoped that the fact of the bone in the limb not being injured would be a point in favor of her recovery, but the shock proved too much for a woman of her age.

Mrs. Canning, whose maiden name was Catherine Farris, was born on December 5, 1845, in Richibucto, New Brunswick. She was next to the youngest of eight children, five of whom are living, her twin brother having died in Richibucto. She came to Grand Rapids with her parents in November, 1857, and lived at Frenchtown, later Port Edwards, until 1863. She attended school at Stevens Point where she fitted herself for teaching, and was one of the early teachers of Grand Rapids.

Three brothers and two sisters survive her, they being Robert and John Farris of this city, William Farris of Asotin, Washington, Mrs. Mary Swisher of Wausau and Mrs. Jane McKay of Seattle, Wash.

She was married October 6th, 1863, and is survived by her husband and five children, they being John James, William Alfred, Walter and Mrs. Hypolite Corriveau of this city, and Edward of Grand Rapids, Minn.

Maccabees Have Doluge.

Those who came over from Stevens Point were E. A. Mase, A. J. Charlesworth, Henry Kelp, F. J. Stewart, W. J. Stewart, M. C. Cooper, Joseph Shaurette, M. Sherfenski, Ray Pittsley, O. L. Faucher and H. A. Strong.

Handles Much Traffic.

T. J. Cooper took the trouble to count the teams and foot passengers that cross the bridge during half an hour on July 31st, and found the figures to be as follows:

Teams during half hour, 56. Foot passengers, 195. This gives a total of 1,344 teams during twelve hours and 4,602 foot passengers. The count was made from 2:45 to 3:15 in the afternoon so that it may be considered a conservative estimate.

Enlarging Their Plant

The Badger Box and Lumber company have started the work of enlarging the capacity of their plant, and the amount of work they have mapped out will probably take until late in the fall to complete.

Some time ago the company decided to abandon the use of electricity and adopt steam as a motive power. This decision was arrived at because the addition of new machinery had increased the power necessary so materially that the Electric and Water company found their dynamos overloaded during the short days of winter, when from four to six o'clock both the power and lights were on.

In changing from electric to steam power the company considered it would be best to enlarge the plant at the same time, and as a consequence they will install a 200 horse power Corliss engine of the latest make, and thus they will be able to operate machines of double the present capacity of the mill.

Besides the building of a power house 36x46 feet, the company will enlarge the factory by building an addition 40 feet wide the full length of the present building. The company has a great deal of waste material, and it is figured that by using this for fuel a great saving in the power bills can be effected.

New Telephone Company.

A co-operative telephone exchange called the Amherst telephone Co. has recently been incorporated at Amherst, Wisconsin, with a capital of $2,500. The intention of the promoters is to give telephone service to the people of Amherst, Amherst Junction, Sheridan, Scandinavia, Iola and several other near by towns, as well as to the farmers in the vicinity of these towns.

The work of construction will proceed as soon as the material can be got on the ground. Over 70 shares of stock have been signed for and many others have signified their desire for the service.

E. C. Starks of this city spent Wednesday and Thursday of last week at Amherst in the interest of the movement, and while there drew up specifications for the plant at Amherst. The system will be full metallic thru-out and only the best grade of apparatus will be used, therefore a first class service is guaranteed. Amherst being on the main lines of the Wis. Telephone Co. between Milwaukee and the West, has excellent toll service, but has never had local telephone service.

A Bad Accident

Otto Flaig, who works in the Biron Paper mill and lives in Rudolph, met with a painful and serious accident on Saturday which may result in the loss of a foot, although it is the hope of the attending surgeon to save the member.

Mr. Flaig got his foot caught in the gear of some of the machinery in such a manner that the sole of his foot was struck repeatedly by a passing arm with the result that the sole of the foot was torn loose and mangled in a horrible manner. He was caught in such a manner that it was about three-quarters of an hour before he could be released, and he naturally suffered a great deal of pain before a physician could get to him to dress his wound. The wound was filled with grease and dirt from the machinery and it is considered a very lucky thing if the foot does not have to be amputated.

CITY WILL KEEP FAIR GROUNDS.

COMMITTEE REPORTS THIS PLAN TO BE THE BEST.

Offer Made for the Old Timber From the Bridge which will be Sold to the Highest Bidder. Ordinance passed to Compel weighing Hay and measuring Wood.

At the meeting of the city council on Tuesday evening the committee consisting of Alderman Kruger, Hill, and Gross, appointed for the purpose of looking into the fair-ground matter was a view to discovering whether it would be best to deed same to the school board for school purposes, reported, recommending that the same be not done. They gave as the reason that they thought that the school board now had all the land that could be made use of for the present, and expressed in the report the willingness to grant the school board more land whenever the time would come that they needed more. They also recommended that some improvements be made about the fair ground site, either in the shape of a fence or the planting of trees that might beautify the place. The same aldermen were appointed a committee to see what was wanted in this line and make a report later to the council. This committee was to meet in conjunction with them in the matter.

Engineer Philco made a report on a street that has been under consideration in the southern part of the city on the west side for several years past. He had made inquiries and discovered that the right of way through the land would cost about $1800, so it was decided to start condemnation proceedings and charge up the cost of the improvements against the property that received the benefit.

The Badger Box and Lumber Company wanted a price on some of the old timber from the bridge and Consolidated Water Power company also submitted an offer to buy all of the sound timber from the bridge at the rate of nine dollars per thousand. It was suggested that the timber be sold to the highest bidder, and the matter was left to the finance committee and the city clerk to dispose of the timber to the best advantage.

Alderman Pratt presented an ordinance which provides that all wood, coal or hay that is sold on the public market in the city shall be either measured or weighed before it can be sold. This action was brought about because parties who have wood or hay for sale have been in the habit of selling the same by the load, and when the commodity was scarce refusing to have it measured or weighed, often working an injustice to the buyer. A penalty of from five to ten dollars is fixed for anybody who attempts to sell any of these commodities without presenting the scaler's certificate showing that same has been measured. This is a good law, as every man who has been compelled to buy wood on the open market will admit.

The matter of making an appropriation for the band the coming year was brought up and the sum of $30 per month was granted them the same as before without a dissenting vote.

The Taylor & Scott company want to lay a drain pipe from their Cloverdale addition to the creek, and asked the city to stand the expense of same where it crosses the public highway. They also asked that they be granted the right to charge the sum of $25 for any person who wish to tap their drain in order to carry off the surface or other water. The petition was granted.

The Grand Rapids Table company presented a petition asking that a 4 inch water main be laid to their factory for fire protection. The matter was referred to the waterworks committee.

A petition was presented asking that a sidewalk be laid on both sides of Oak street. There were a large number of signers and the matter was referred to the sidewalk committee.

James Howlett presented a petition asking for a saloon license. The petition was granted.

After allowing a number of bills the council adjourned until the next meeting.

Alfalfa.

As a farmer in South Dakota we tested Alfalfa but after a number of years trial we were forced to abandon its cultivation owing to the fact that the soil of our farm (and it is the same generally over the state) was underlaid at from two to three feet below the surface with a hard unyielding hard pan, which prevented the roots of Alfalfa plants from penetrating; and as the nature of this plant is to send its roots deep into the earth, the hard pan was fatal to its development. Our knowledge of soil conditions here and generally over Northern Wisconsin, leads us to believe that Alfalfa will find here all the natural conditions to make it flourish and become a great success and will be a tremendous factor in further developing the dairy industry which already has such a firm hold in country. It is the earliest grass known to start in the spring and will give good feed in the spring before timothy or clover have awakened from their nap. It will produce two to three crops in a season. It is not difficult to start, neither will it kill out. Sow it as you would oats, with or without a nursery crop; if sown without, then the mower must be run over it often enough to keep down the weeds and to let in the sunlight. It is a crop that our farmers can well

A Large Drove of Sheep.

The Drove of sheep belonging to George Taylor that he has been expecting for some time arrived in the city this morning and they were unloaded as rapidly as possible and driven in a body to the land south of the city where they will be fattened.

There was about 3200 in the drove, and they were quite a sight as they passed thru the street. It is the expectation that the sheep will be fat by the time the pasturage begins to get scarce in this section, when they will again be loaded into the cars and shipped to market. Should the experiment prove a success it is probable that the same thing will be done each succeeding year, only on a larger scale.

Neighborhood Notes.

Work has been commenced on an immense warehouse to be built for Jacob Skibba at Junction City, and which will be used for storing potatoes, grain, hay and etc., which Mr. Skibba will in future handle in large quantities. The dimensions of the new building are 50x100 feet, with a stone basement one foot high. Walls above the stone work are to be 14 feet in height, of solid brick. M. J. Mersch, of this city, has the contract, and he estimates the cost to be $4,000.

Besides being engaged in the merchandise business, Mr. Skibba owns a creamery at the Junction which is receiving an average of 7,000 pounds of milk per day.—Stevens Point Gazette.

Mrs. Mary Sauter (formerly McGinley), drove up from the town of Grant last Sunday and transacted business here. Mrs. Sauter has rented the John McGinley farm in Almond to John Sintowski of Oasis, Wausara County, and bought the Fredina Knoll farm of 200 acres in Grant, seven miles east of Grand Rapids, and located on the free mail delivery route running from that city. Eighty acres of the new purchase is under cultivation, the balance being marsh and timber lands. Mrs. Sauter lived on the old homestead in Almond for thirty years, and since the death of her first husband she has conducted the farm with marked success and ability. Stevens Point Gazette.

Geo. Kickland, one of the pioneer settlers of the town of Carson on the river road, died on Sunday evening. About five weeks ago he fell and broke his hip. He was 85 years of age.

Facts About the Election of the Pope.

The sacred college consists, when full, of seventy cardinals. There are six vacancies at present, and two cardinals cannot reach Rome in time. Majority requisite for election, two-thirds of all present.

Number of Italian cardinal in college, forty-eight; number of Frenchmen, seven.

The voting is done by paper ballot folded twice and sealed with private seal of the elector. Only two ballots are taken each day.

At each failure of a ballot to elect, wet straw is burned with the ballots, the smoke from which tells the people that no choice has been made as yet.

This is the first conclave at which an American cardinal has been able to cast a vote for the Pope.

It has been twenty-five years five months and eleven days since the last conclave ended.

All food is passed into the chapel in hampers, but these hampers are carefully searched for contraband matter such as letters, signals, or other communication.

The successor of Leo XIII. will be the two hundred and sixty-fourth Pope of Rome according to the Roman Catholic accepted register. St. Peter is counted as the first pontifex maximus.

Davis-Heuer.

Budd Davis and Miss Margaret Heuer, both of Veedum, were married in this city on Saturday by Justice Brown. The young people came to the city and wanted to get married right away, so they applied to Judge Conway for a special permit. After looking up the facts in the case the judge issued the permit, the knot was tied, and the newly united pair started for home the same afternoon.

Laying Sewers.

A sewer is being put down along Center street on the east side to connect with the Oak street sewer. The work went easy for a part of the distance, but later granite was encountered where it was necessary to blast. There is no question but what everybody will be pleased when all of the sewer, water pipes, and other things that cause the streets to be torn up have been placed in position.

A New Pope Elected.

At Rome, on August 10th, a new pope was elected. His name, as cardinal, was Giuseppe Sarto, and his official title now is Pope Pius X.

The new pope was born on the 2d of June, 1857, at Riese, Italy, and is consequently 54 years old. He has been a cardinal since 1893.

The conclave of cardinals was in session four days before a selection was made. The coronation of the new pope will probably occur on the 9th instant.

A New Power.

The Wausau Central Wisconsin is authority for the statement that George Partillo of that city has invented what he terms a buoyant engine, which is so far ahead of anything else in the cheapness with which it will furnish power that it is bound to revolutionize the industries of the world. Following is a description of the machine taken from the Central Wisconsin:

The machine is termed a buoyant engine from the fact that it derives its power from buoyancy. The same force that would bring to the surface of a body of water with its broadest side exposed, a board that had with seemingly no resistance been immersed in edgewise. This is the principle upon which this new engine works. This part of the discovery is not original with Mr. Partillo. It has been worked upon for years by others, but he does claim that through the use of air chambers, with automatic opening and closing devices and application of these to the above principle, that he has perfected an engine which will derive enough energy from still water to run as long as it is partly submerged.

He has manufactured a wheel 6 inches in diameter and 8 inches in width which when one-third submerged in a tub of water has not only run, but has developed power enough to operate an old style Wheeler & Wilson sewing machine, running continuously for 48 hours and that without other power than that derived from the water in the tub. This model is now in the hands of his attorneys in Washington, having been taken there to convince the officials of the patent office that the machine is in no way to be classed with the "perpetual motions," as it derives its energy from the water to just as much an extent as a steam engine derives its from the steam of the boiler.

Estimating from the recorded power of this wheel while in operation, Mr. Partillo states that a wheel 11 feet in diameter and 7 feet in width would develop 575 recorded horse power.

The above description is rather vague, and to a man who has made any study of mechanics looks more like a pipe dream than facts. However, a discovery or invention of this kind will be hailed with delight by the public in general. Its development will be watched with interest.

Much interest has lately been aroused in London by two surgical operations which have resulted in a marked change of character in the patients. One was that of a boy of good family who had developed strangely brutal instincts. A clever surgeon examined him with care, located what is considered the seat of the trouble, removed a piece of the skull and thus relieved the deforming pressure. The lad was restored to his parents a normal and lovable child. The other case was that of a soldier who, after an injury in a skirmish, developed a propensity for theft. An operation on the brain cured him. —Oshkosh Northwestern.

There is no question but what the world is advancing and it is only a question of time when brains will be made or trimmed up to order while you wait. The result will be, of course, that when a man wants to pursue any particular calling, if not properly provided with something in the line of brains he will have what he has got fixed over to suit the occasion. Quite an advantage over having to peg along with the same old set of brains all the time.

An alleged philanthropist from Texas has offered to make improvements in Stevens Point that will cost $1,000,000,000, or thereabout, if the inhabitants of the city will only change the name of the city to Philanthropy. Philanthropy isn't a bad sort of a name, and by putting a little set in it the people over there could use it to saw wood with during the dull season when there wasn't much doing.

A new method has been discovered for watermarking paper. Heretofore the design was woven into the wire of the dandy roll, but by the new process the design is made on a stereotype plate and fastened to a roll that works against a dryer roll and does the work. It is said that the new method will cheapen the cost of some brands of paper.

If that geezer who is looking for a town in which to spend a billion dollars provided the name of the city changed had come to Grand Rapids, we might have heard him if willing to be struck the town when the time came if our merchants had discovered that geese they had ordered were peacefully depositing in Grand Rapids, Michigan.

A number of postal standards have cropped up in Germany. They are said to resemble very much the ones that are being unearthed in our own postal system. It is said that imitation is the sincerest form of flattery.

Military Murder.

From The Associated Press.

Last Easter morning one Hussner, a German military officer, met one Horstman, a German private soldier, on a street in Essen. As the soldier failed to salute the officer to his satisfaction, Hussner murdered him on the spot in cold blood. The murderer was tried by court martial; instead of being executed he was sentenced to four years' imprisonment. Now the emperor has become an accessory to the murder by commuting the murderer's sentence to two years' imprisonment. This "imprisonment" is merely detention, without military duty, in a fortress town, and is not imprisonment at all. Slight as is this punishment, it is freely stated in Germany that the murderer will soon be pardoned by the emperor, and allowed to go free.

The recent enormous increase in the Socialist vote is partly due to this action of the emperor. It has aroused a storm of indignation throughout all Germany. The increase of the Socialist vote had already alarmed the narrow-headed agrarian aristocratic classes of Prussia, which means official Germany. They have good cause to be alarmed. There is a very lukewarm feeling in South Germany toward Prussia. The pictures of Kaiser Wilhelm that one sees on every hand in Prussia are little in evidence in the South. In all the great factory towns of Germany—north, south, east and west—there is little love for the emperor, and none at all for the emperor's government. Such crimes as this military murder will not help to placate the people's restlessness under the Hohenzollern yoke.

This German theory of the sacrosanctitude of the military officer as against the private soldier has a parallel in the German governmental idea of the relations of the soldier and the civilian. It is an inevitable concomitant of militarism. It is in Germany somewhat as it was in the days of the first French empire, when life was made intolerable for civilians by the ruffianly officers of Napoleon. They did not hesitate to take a table from a group of civilians in a cafe; to drive a party of gentlemen from a box in the theater, for which box they had paid; or to caress any woman whose face pleased them, and if her escort resented it to eat him down with their sabres. They even had a term of derision for the civilian—he was merely a "Pekin." It is inexpressibly gratifying to read that many a military ruffian of those days was sent to his long home by a plain "Pekin"—some on the dueling field, but more on the spot where the insults took place. It is also pleasing to recall that in our own days, when Warrior Boulanger grossly insulted Citizen Floquet, "le Brave General" was poked by the "Pekin." And once, when a German officer in Berlin insulted an American lady, an athletic male relative snuffed his ears for him, and when the German drew his sword, the athletic American broke it in two across his knee and threw the pieces in the German's face.

The ruffianly spirit still exist in Germany. In that country, military officers continually insult civilians and sometimes murder them. When they do, the affair is treated as lightly by the emperor and his government as has been the recent military murder. When he first acceded the throne, the kaleidoscopic kaiser conquetted with the Socialists. But, like the royal butt of Buckingham's satire, he is everything by turns and nothing long. He soon became alarmed at the Socialists growing numbers, and from fair words he turned to threats. Not long ago the emperor made one of his impulsive speeches to his army at a review, when he said: "You are my soldiers. You are my children. You have sworn loyalty to your kaiser. Do not fail to keep your oath, for if need arise I shall call upon you to shoot down the Socialists and you must obey orders, even if your fathers and mothers, your wives and sisters, should be in the range of your gun."

William the war lord of Germany is a mighty monarch. But if he begins shooting down Socialists, let him remember the battle summer of 1848. His grandfather, Der Kreise Kaiser, would, from the other world, give a hint or two to Der Kreise Kaiser. The Gray Emperor could tell the Globe-Trotting Emperor that if you shoot at Socialists they sometimes shoot back.

New Train Service.

A dispatch from Winona, printed in the Minneapolis Times, says that the Green Bay & Western will establish a new train service on the west end of the system about Aug. 15. It is said that the new train will run between Winona and Merrillan or possibly Grand Rapids. It will run westward, arriving at Winona in the morning, and will leave on the return trip east in the evening. If these trains are established it will afford opportunity for the promotion of a number of trainmen.

The Curious Ways Of Men.

We do not understand that Kendall divorce case. Perhaps it was not needed that humanity should be soled to fathom the capriciousness of man. It is a Dublin, Ind., affair, and Ellen Kendall declares that her husband, Alfred, frequently goes to bed wearing muddy shoes. It is her chief objection to him. Really, he has few flaws.

It is a funny world, and it is the search-light could be turned on the things that women have to bear it is possible that matrimony would receive a set back.

A Cleveland husband licked the cream from the milk that was set aside for the baby.

A St. Louis man was so madly infatuated with the circus that he shook the pennies out of his little girl's bank to steal away and view the festive hippodrome.

A Kansas City man was infected with the microbe of unrest, and nineteen times in two years did he force his far better half to pack up and move.

A new York man played the clarinet; a Chicago man read bad poetry of his own manufacture, and two women were ripe for the mad house.

In each of the instances cited, sympathetic judges granted divorces. They didn't attempt to analyze causes.

Man is an enigma. The court records prove that he is a problem. He cannot be solved. He does things and nobody can tell why he does them. Mr. Kendall and his muddy-shoe habit has intensified the mystery and afforded not one clue to the why of things.

Sometimes we wonder how men are able to secure wives.

To avoid idleness.
To darn stockings.
To be self-reliant.
To respect old age.
To make good bread.
To keep a house tidy.
To make a home happy.
To be above gossiping.
To control her temper.

To take care of the baby.
To sweep down cobwebs.
To read the very best books.
To take plenty of active exercise.
To keep clear of trashy literature.
To be light-hearted and fleet-footed.
When she has learned all this if she does not grow wings and fly away to a better land, she will make some lucky man a most excellent wife.—Ex.

Claims of Creditors.

Wood County Court.—In Probate. In the Matter of the Estate of Philomena Winkel, deceased.

Letters testamentary on the estate of said Philomena Winkel, deceased, having been granted and issued to Seth A. Spafford on the 23d day of June, 1909, it is now at this special term of this court,

GUN SHOT WOUND PROVES FATAL.

MRS. JAMES CANNING SUCCEUMS TO HER INJURIES.

Accidental Discharge of a Shotgun in the Hands of Her Son, Walter, Tears Away the Calf of Her Leg and Injury Subsequently Results in Death.

Mrs. James Canning was shot in the right leg on Sunday with a shotgun in the hands of her son, Walter, resulting in the tearing away of the calf of the leg, and making a very ugly wound. The wound was dressed as soon as possible and it was hoped at the time that the old lady would recover, but in spite of all that could be done for her she passed away on Tuesday afternoon, about forty-eight hours after the accident. The story of the shooting is as follows:

Mrs. Canning had been away from home on a visit and during her absence Walter had borrowed a shotgun from a friend with which to shoot the birds that had been stealing berries about the place. When Mrs. Canning returned she noticed the gun and inquired what it was doing there. The case was explained and she advised that the weapon be returned to its owner.

Walter picked up the gun to carry out his mother's advice, when, noticing some rust about the breech, he took a cloth and commenced to wipe the piece. Suddenly, just as Mrs. Canning was passing, the gun exploded, taking effect in the calf of the leg and tearing away nearly the entire muscle. A physician was summoned at once and he dressed the wound, making the lady as comfortable as possible. While almost the entire muscle was torn away the bone of the limb was not injured in the least, the muzzle of the weapon being only about six feet distant when discharged.

It was hoped that the fact of the bone in the limb not being injured would be a point in favor of her recovery, but the shock proved too much for a woman of her age.

Mrs. Canning, whose maiden name was Catherine Farish, was born on December 5, 1845, in Richibucto, New Brunswick. She was next to the youngest of eight children, five of whom are living, her twin brother having died in Richibucto. She came to Grand Rapids with her parents in November, 1857, and lived at Frenchtown, later Port Edwards, until 1863. She attended school at Stevens Point where she fitted herself for teaching, and was one of the early teachers of Grand Rapids.

Three brothers and two sisters survive her, they being Robert and John Farish of this city, William Farish of Asotin, Washington, Mrs. Mary Swisher of Wausau and Mrs. Jane McKay of Seattle, Wash.

She was married October 6th, 1863, and is survived by her husband and five children, they being John James, William Alfred, Walter and Mrs. Hypolite Corriveau of this city, and Edward of Grand Rapids, Minn.

Handles Much Traffic.

T. J. Cooper took the trouble to count the teams and foot passengers that cross the bridge during half an hour on July 31st, and found the figures to be as follows:

Teams during half hour, 56. Foot passengers, 195. This gives a total of 1,344 teams during twelve hours and 4,602 foot passengers. The count was made from 2:45 to 3:15 in the afternoon so that it may be considered a conservative estimate.

MEN WANTED.

Men wanted to work at Spring Lake, Wisconsin, will pay $1.75 per day. Board $3.50 per week. Milwaukee Granite Co., by G. W. Cunningham, superintendent.

Enlarging Their Plant

The Badger Box and Lumber company have started the work of enlarging the capacity of their plant, and the amount of work they have mapped out will probably take until late in the fall to complete.

Some time ago the company decided to add the use of electricity and adopt steam as a motive power. This decision was arrived at because the addition of new machinery had increased the power necessary so materially that the Electric and Water company found their dynamos overloaded during the short days of winter, when from four to six o'clock both the power and lights were on.

In changing from electric to steam power the company considered it would be best to enlarge the plant at the same time, and as a consequence they will install a 200 horse power Corliss engine of the latest make, and thus they will be able to operate machines of double the present capacity of the mill.

Besides the building of a power house 36x46 feet, the company will enlarge the factory by building an addition 40 feet wide the full length of the present building. The company has a great deal of waste material, and it is figured that by using this for fuel a great saving in the power bills can be effected.

New Telephone Company.

A co-operative telephone exchange called the Amherst telephone Co. has recently been incorporated at Amherst, Wisconsin, with a capital of $2,500. The intention of the promoters is to give telephone service to the people of Amherst, Amherst Junction, Sheridan, Scandia, Iowa, and several other near by towns, as well as to the farmers in the vicinity of these towns.

The work of construction will proceed as soon as the material can be got on the ground. Over 70 shares of stock have been signed for and many others have signified their desire for the service.

E. C. Starks of this city spent Wednesday and Thursday of last week at Amherst in the interest of the movement, and while there drew up specifications for the plant at Amherst. The system will be full metallic thru-out and only the best grade of apparatus will be used, therefore a first class service is guaranteed. Amherst being on the main lines of the Wis. Telephone Co. between Milwaukee and the West, has excellent toll service, but has never had local telephone service.

A Bad Accident

Otto Flaig, who works in the Biron Paper mill and lives in Rudolph, met with a painful and serious accident on Saturday which may result in the loss of a foot, although it is the hope of the attending surgeon to save the member.

Mr. Flaig got his foot caught in the gear of some of the machinery in such a manner that the sole of his foot was struck repeatedly by a passing arm with the result that the sole of the foot was torn loose and mangled in a horrible manner. He was caught in such a manner that it was about three-quarters of an hour before he could be released, and he naturally suffered a great deal of pain before a physician could get to him to dress his wound. The wound was filled with grease and dirt from the machinery and it is considered a very lucky thing if the foot does not have to be amputated.

CITY WILL KEEP FAIR GROUNDS.

COMMITTEE REPORTS THIS PLAN TO BE THE BEST.

Offer Made for the Old Timber From the Bridge which will be Sold to the Highest Bidder.—Ordinance passed to Compel weighing Hay and measuring Wood.

At the meeting of the city council on Tuesday evening the committee consisting of Alderman Kruger, Hill, and Gross, appointed for the purpose of looking into the fair-ground matter was a view to discovering whether it would be best to deed same to the school board for school purposes, reported, recommending that the same be not done. They gave as the reason that they thought that the school board now had all the land that could be made use of for the present, and expressed in the report the willingness to grant the school board more land whenever the time would come that they needed more. They also recommended that some improvements be made about the fair ground site, either in the shape of a fence or the planting of trees that might beautify the place. The same aldermen were appointed a committee to see what was wanted in this line and make a report later to the council. This committee was to meet with the school commissioners and act in conjunction with them in the matter.

Engineer Phillee made a report on a street that has been under consideration in the southern part of the city on the west side for several years past. He had made inquiries and discovered that the right of way through the land would cost about $1800, so it was decided to start condemnation proceedings and charge up the cost of the improvements against the property that received the benefit.

The Badger Box and Lumber Company wanted a price on some of the old timber from the bridge and Consolidated Water Power company also submitted an offer to buy all of the sound timber from the bridge at the rate of nine dollars per thousand. It was suggested that the timber be sold to the highest bidder, and the matter was left to the finance committee and the city clerk to dispose of the timber to the best advantage.

Alderman Pratt presented an ordinance which provides that all wood, coal or hay that is sold on the public market in the city shall be either measured or weighed before it can be sold. This action was brought about because parties who have wood or hay for sale have been in the habit of selling the same by the load, and when the commodity was scarce refusing to have it measured or weighed, often working an injustice to the buyer. A penalty of from five to ten dollars is fixed for anybody who attempts to sell any of these commodities with out presenting the scaler's certificate showing that same has been measured. This is a good law, as every man who has been compelled to buy wood on the open market will admit.

The matter of making an appropriation for the band the coming year was brought up and the sum of $30 per month was granted them the same as before without a dissenting vote. The Taylor & Scott company want to lay a drain pipe from their Cloverdale addition to the creek, and asked the city to stand the expense of same where it crosses the public highway. They also asked that they be granted the right to charge the sum of $25 for any person who wish to tap their drain in order to carry off the surface or other water. The petition was granted.

The Grand Rapids Table company presented a petition asking that a 4 inch water main be laid to their factory for fire protection. The matter was referred to the waterworks committee.

A petition was presented asking that a sidewalk be laid on both sides of Oak street. There were a large number of signers and the matter was referred to the sidewalk committee. James Howlett presented a petition asking for a saloon license. The petition was granted.

After allowing a number of bills the council adjourned until the next meeting.

Alfalfa.

As a farmer in South Dakota we tested Alfalfa but after a number of years trial we were forced to abandon its cultivation owing to the fact that the soil of our farm (and it is the same generally over the state) was underlaid at from two to three feet below the surface with a hard unyielding hard pan, which prevented the roots of Alfalfa plants from penetrating; and as the nature of this plant is to send its roots deep into the earth, the hard pan was fatal to its development. Our knowledge of soil conditions here and generally over Northern Wisconsin, leads us to believe that Alfalfa will find here all the natural conditions to make it flourish and become a great success and will be a tremendous factor in further developing the dairy industry which already has such a firm hold in country. It is the earliest grass known to start in the spring and will give good feed in the spring before timothy or clover have awakened from their nap. It will produce two to three crops in a season. It is not difficult to start, neither will it kill out. Sow it as you would oats, with or without a nursery crop; if sown without, then the mower must be run over it often enough to keep down the weeds and to let in the sunlight. It is a crop that our farmers can well

A Large Drove of Sheep.

The drove of sheep belonging to George Taylor that he has been expecting for some time arrived in the city this morning and they were unloaded as rapidly as possible and driven in a body to the land south of the city where they will be fattened.

There was about 3200 in the drove, and they were quite a sight as they passed thru the street. It is the expectation that the sheep will be fat by the time the pasturage begins to get scarce in this section, when they will again be loaded into the cars and shipped to market. Should the experiment prove a success it is probable that the same thing will be done each succeeding year, only on a larger scale.

Neighborhood Notes.

Work has been commenced on an immense warehouse to be built for Jacob Skibba at Junction City, and which will be used for storing potatoes, grain, hay and etc., which Mr. Skibba will in future handle in large quantities. The dimensions of the new building are 50x100 feet, with a stone basement nine feet high. Walls above the stone work are to be 14 feet in height, of solid brick. M. J. Mersich, of this city, has the contract, and he estimates the cost to be $4,000.

Besides being engaged in the merchandise business, Mr. Skibba owns a creamery at the Junction which is receiving an average of 7,000 pounds of milk per day.—Stevens Point Gazette.

Mrs. Mary Sauter (formerly McGinley), drove up from the town of Grant last Sunday and transacted business here. Mrs. Sauter has rented the John McGinley farm in Almond to John Sintostki of Oasis, Waushara County, and bought the Fredinand Knoll farm of 200 acres in Grant, seven miles east of Grand Rapids, and located on the free mail delivery route running from that city. Eighty acres of the new purchase is under cultivation, the balance being marsh and timber lands. Mrs. Sauter lived on the old homestead in Almond for thirty years, and since the death of her first husband she has conducted the farm with marked success and ability. Stevens Point Gazette.

Facts About the Election of the Pope.

The sacred college consists, when full, of seventy cardinals. There are six vacancies at present, and two cardinals cannot reach Rome in time. Majority requisite for election, two-thirds of all present.

Number of Italian cardinal in college, forty-eight; number of Frenchmen, seven.

The voting is done by paper ballot folded twice and sealed with private seal of the elector. Only two ballots are taken each day.

At each failure of a ballot to elect, wet straw is burned with the ballots, the smoke from which tells the people that no choice has been made as yet.

This is the first conclave at which an American cardinal has been able to cast a vote for the Pope.

It has been twenty-five years five months and eleven days since the last conclave ended.

All food is passed into the chapel in hamper, but these hamper are carefully searched for contraband matter such as letters, signals, or other communication.

The successor of Leo XIII. will be the two hundred and sixty-fourth Pope of Rome according to the Roman Catholic accepted register. St. Peter is counted as the first pontifex maximus.

Davis-Hener.

Budd Davis and Miss Margaret Hener, both of Veedum, were married in this city on Saturday by Justice Brown. The young people came to the city and wanted to get married right away, so they applied to Judge Conway for a special permit. After looking up the facts in the case the judge issued the permit, the knot was tied, and the newly united pair started for home the same afternoon.

Laying Sewers.

A sewer is being put down along Center street on the east side to connect with the Oak street sewer. The work went easy for a part of the distance, but later granite was encountered where it was necessary to blast. There is no question but what everybody will be pleased when all of the sewer, water pipes, and other things that cause the streets to be torn up have been placed in position.

A New Pope Elected.

At Rome, on August 4th, a new pope was elected. His name, as cardinal, was Giuseppe Sartori, and his official title now is Pope Pius X.

The new pope was born on the 2d of June, 1855, at Riese, Italy, and is consequently 48 years old. He has been a cardinal since 1893.

The conclave of cardinals was in session four days before a selection was made. The coronation of the new pope will probably occur on the 9th instant.

A New Power.

The Wausau Central Wisconsin is authority for the statement that George Partillo of that city has invented what he terms a buoyant engine, which is so far ahead of anything else in the cheapness with which it will furnish power that it is bound to revolutionize the industries of the world. Following is a description of the machine taken from the Central Wisconsin:

The machine is termed a buoyant engine from the fact that it derives its power from buoyancy. The same force that would bring to the surface of a body of water with its broadest side exposed, a board that had with seemingly no resistance been immersed in edgewise. This is the principle upon which this new engine works. This part of the discovery is not original with Mr. Partillo. It has been worked upon for years by others, but he does claim that through the use of air chambers, with automatic opening and closing devices and application of these to the above principle, that he has perfected an engine which will derive enough energy from still water to run as long as it is partly submerged.

He has manufactured a wheel 6 inches in diameter and 8 inches in width which when one-third submerged in a tub of water has not only run, but has developed power enough to operate an old style Wheeler & Wilson sewing machine, running continuously for 48 hours and that without other power than that derived from the water in the tub. This model is now in the hands of his attorneys in Washington, having been taken there to convince the officials of the patent office that the machine is in no way to be classed with the "perpetual motions," as it derives its energy from the water to just as much an extent as a steam engine derives its from the steam of the boiler.

Estimating from the recorded power of this wheel while in operation, Mr. Partillo states that a wheel 11 feet in diameter and 7 feet in width would develop 575 recorded horse power.

The above description is rather vague, and to a man who has made any study of mechanics, looks more like a pipe dream than facts. However, a discovery or invention of this kind will be hailed with delight by the public in general. Its development will be watched with interest.

Much interest has lately been aroused in London by two surgical operations which have resulted in a marked change of character in the patients. One was that of a boy of good family who had developed strangely brutal instincts. A clever surgeon examined him with care, located what is considered the seat of the trouble, removed a piece of the skull and thus relieved the deforming pressure. The lad was restored to his parents a normal and lovable child. The other case was that of a soldier who, after an injury in a skirmish, developed a propensity for theft. An operation on the brain cured him. —Oshkosh Northwestern.

There is no question but what the world is advancing and it is only a question of time when brains will be made or trimmed up to order while you wait. The result will be, of course, that when a man wants to pursue any particular calling, if not properly provided with something in the line of brains he will have what he has got fixed over to at the occasion. Quite an advantage over having to peg along with the same old set of brains all the time.

An alleged philanthropist from Texas has offered to make improvements in Stevens Point that will cost $1,000,000, or thereabout, if the inhabitants of the city will only change the name of the city to Philanthropy. Philanthropy isn't a bad sort of a name and by putting a little set in the people over there could use it to sew wool with during the dull season when there wasn't much doing.

A new method has been discovered for watermarking paper. Heretofore the design was worn into the wire of the dandy roll, but by the new process the design is made on a stereotype plate and fastened to a roll that works against a dryer roll and does the work. It is said that the new method will cheapen the cost of some brands of paper.

If that geezer who is looking for a town in which to spend a billion is changed had come to Grand Rapids he might have found a lot of willing takers had he struck the town about the time some of our merchants had discovered that goods they had ordered were peacefully reposing in Grand Rapids, Michigan.

A number of postal scandals have cropped up in Germany. They are said to resemble very much the ones that are being unearthed in our own postal system. It is said that imitation is the sincerest form of flattery.

Military Murder.

From The Aeronaut.

Last Easter morning one Hussner, a German military officer, met one Horstman, a German private soldier, on a street in Essen. As the soldier failed to salute the officer to his satisfaction, Hussner murdered him on the spot in cold blood. The murderer was tried by court martial, instead of being executed he was sentenced to four years imprisonment. Now the emperor has become an accessory to the murder by commuting the murderer's sentence to two years imprisonment. This "imprisonment" is merely detention, without military duty, in a fortress town, and is not imprisonment at all. Slight as is this punishment, it is freely stated in Germany that the murderer will soon be pardoned by the emperor, and allowed to go free.

The recent enormous increase in the Socialist vote is partly due to this action of the emperor. It has aroused a storm of indignation throughout all Germany. The increase of the Socialist vote had already alarmed the narrow-headed agrarian aristocratic classes of Prussia, which means official Germany. They have good cause to be alarmed. There is a very lukewarm feeling in South Germany toward Prussia. The pictures of Kaiser Wilhelm that one sees on every hand in Prussia are little in evidence in the South. In all the great factory towns of Germany—north, south, east and west—there is little love for the emperor, and none at all for the emperor's government. Such crimes as this military murder will not help to placate the people's restlessness under the Hohenzollern yoke.

This German theory of the sanctitude of the military officer, as against the private soldier has a parallel in the German governmental ideal of the relations of the soldier and the civilian. It is an inevitable concomitant of militarism. It is in Germany somewhat as it was in the days of the first French empire, when life was made intolerable for civilians by the ruffianly officers of Napoleon. They did not hesitate to take a table from a group of civilians in a cafe; to drive a party of gentlemen from a box in the theater, for which box they had paid; or to caress any woman whose face pleased them, and if her escort resented it to cut him down with their sabres. They even had a term of derision for the civilian—he was merely a "Pekin." It is inexpressibly gratifying to read that many a military ruffian of those days was sent to his long home by a plain "Pekin"—some on the dueling field, but more on the spot where the insults took place. It is also pleasing to recall that in our own days, when Warrior Boulanger grossly insulted Citizen Floquet, "le Brave General" was poked by the "Pekin." And once, when a German officer in Berlin insulted an American lady, an athletic male relative cuffed his ears for him, and when the German drew his sword, the athletic American broke it in two between his knee and threw the pieces in the German's face.

The ruffianly spirit still exist in Germany. In that country, military officers continually insult civilians and sometimes murder them. When they do, the affair is treated as lightly by the emperor and his government as has been the recent military murder. When he first acceded the throne, the kaleidoscopic kaiser coquetted with the Socialists. But, like the royal butt of Buckingham's satire, he is everything by turns and nothing long. He soon became alarmed at the Socialists growing numbers, and from fair words he turned to threats. Not long ago the emperor made one of his impulsive speeches to his army at a review, when he said: "You are my soldiers. You are my children. You have sworn loyalty to your kaiser. Do not fail to keep your oath, for if need arise I shall call upon you to shoot down the Socialists and you must obey orders, even if your fathers and mothers, your wives and sisters, should be in the range of your gun."

William the war lord of Germany is a mighty monarch. But if he begins shooting down Socialists, let him remember the battle summer of 1848. His grandfather, Der Kreise Kaiser, would, from the other world, give a hint or two to Der Kreise Kaiser. The Gray Emperor could tell the Globe-Trotting Emperor that if you shoot at Socialists they sometimes shoot back.

New Train Service

A dispatch from Winona, printed in the Minneapolis Times, says that the Green Bay & Western will establish a new train service on the west end of the system about Aug. 15. It is said that the new train will run between Winona and Merrillan or possibly Grand Rapids. It will run westward, arriving at Winona in the morning and will leave on the return trip east in the evening. If these trains are established it will afford opportunity for the promotion of a number of trameeans.

The Death Penalty.

A little thing sometimes results in death. Thus a mere scratch, insignificant cuts or puny boils have paid the death penalty. It is wise to have Bucklin's Arnica Salve ever handy. It's the best salve on earth and will prevent fatal results when Burns, Sores, Cuts and Piles threaten. Only 25¢ at John D. Daly's Drug Store.

The Curious Ways of Men.

We do not understand that Kendall divorce case. Perhaps it was not intended that humanity should be able to fathom the cussedness of man.

It is a Dublin, Ind., affair, and Ellen Kendall declares that her husband, Alfred, frequently goes to bed wearing muddy shoes. It is her chief objection to him. Really, he has few flaws.

It is a funny world, and if the searchlight could be turned on the things that women have to bear it is possible that matrimony would receive a set back.

A Cleveland husband licked the cream from the milk that was set aside for the baby.

A St. Louis man was so madly infatuated with the circus that he shook the pennies out of his little girl's bank to steal away and view the festive hippodrome.

A Kansas City man was infected with the microbe of unrest, and nineteen times in two years did he force his far better half to pack up and move. A New York man played the clarinet a Chicago man read bad poetry of his own manufacture, and two women were ripe for the mad house.

In each of the instances cited, sympathetic judges granted divorces. They didn't attempt to analyze causes. Man is an enigma. The court records prove that he is a problem. He cannot be solved. He does things and nobody can tell why he does them. Mr. Kendall and his muddy-shoe habit has intensified the mystery and afforded not one clue to the why of things.

Sometimes we wonder how men are able to secure wives.

A Liberal Education.

The modern girl's education is incomplete unless she has learned:

To sew.
To cook.
To mend.
To be gentle.
To dress neatly.
To keep a secret.
To avoid idleness.
To darn stockings.
To be self-reliant.
To respect old age.
To make good bread.
To keep a house tidy.
To make a home happy.
To be above gossiping.
To control her temper.
To take care of the sick.
To take care of the baby.
To sweep down cobwebs.
To read the very best books.
To take plenty of active exercise.
To keep clear of trashy literature.
To be light-hearted and fleet-footed.
When she has learned all this if she does not grow wings and fly away to a better land, she will make some lucky man a most excellent wife.—Ex.

SHORT LOCALS

Not Our Maccabees.—Zeno M. Host, insurance commission has denied the application of Great Hive of the Modern Maccabees of Ann Arbor, Mich., to carry on an insurance business in this state. This, however, does not affect the Maccabee lodge doing business in this city, as this is the Maccabees of the World, with headquarters at Port Huron, Mich. One of the reasons for denying the application was because of the similarity of the name and the fact that the new organization proposed to insure persons from 16 to 70 years of age and also to pay annuities to persons over 70 years of age with no provisions for a reserve fund.

Some New Music.—The band will give their next concert on Thursday evening and for this occasion they have rehearsed some entirely new music. The program will be entirely different from any previous one, the following being a list: March—King of All. Overture—Golden Crescent. Miller Waltz—Symphony. Holzmann Medley Overture. Record Breaker. Intermezzo—Two Steps—Atonia. Gray Indian War Dances (Discriptive). Bellsted Two Steps—Under the Bamboo Tree. Medley—Southern Breezes. Altherton March—Dixie Girl. Lampe

Building Side Track.—The consolidated people have had a gang of men at work on one of their sidings that leads to the mill and the laying of the steel is about complete. The track runs north from the mill site and turns near the Green Bay & Western track and connects with the main line of the Northwestern. This one track is only a starter and the company expects to put in sufficient to handle their entire business.

A Light Frost.—There was a slight freeze on some of the marshes in this section on Friday morning, altho it was not heavy enough to do any damage. The official thermometer at the court house registered 44 degrees, but on some of the marshes it was thirteen degrees lower than this. On most of the marshes mercury registered just a few degrees above freezing.

A New Agent.—C. W. Hodgson, who has been agent at the Wisconsin Central station in this city for some time past, has been promoted to the position of traveling freight agent for the company. K. F. Turnell, who has been the agent at Stevens Point, has been transferred to this city and will be the agent here. Mr. Hodgson's friends will be glad to hear of his advancement.

A New Location.—G. Braderli has removed his shoe shop to the building formerly occupied by the United States express office, and in addition to his repair shop he has put in a stock of shoes of the best makes, with which he will supply his customers. He requests the public to give him a trial, and an advertisement of his business will be found in another column.

Will Pay to Dredge.—By the time the bridge is completed there will be quite a valuable collection of hardware on the river bottom. On Friday the bridge crew lost one of their pulley blocks, verboard, and besides this there have been various monkey wrenches, hammers, and other implements lost at various times, which are beyond recovery.

Will Build Church.—The Baptist society have purchased a lot 75x120 feet on Court House street from Mrs. N. Pepin. The property is just north of the premises of J. J. Looze. It is the intention of the society to build a church on the premises as soon as they are able. The society is an enthusiastic one and will no doubt soon have up a church edifice.

Sold His Store.—J. M. Glace of Koldner sold his stock and fixtures to C. D. Bulings of Neenah and G. H. M. Rice of New Rome. The new firm will enlarge the store and add many new goods. They also bought the store building and lots of H. Kieberg. Both men expect to build new homes and move their families there.

A Prompt Settlement.—Central Rapids Hive No. 105 has received notification of the allowance of the death claim of Grace Estella Getts. The notification was received last Wednesday, after the lapse of only twenty days, which was a very prompt settlement.

Nearing Completion.—Geo. Moulton started in last week to do the plastering on the new Hotel Dixon, and since then things have been kept moving at a lively rate. Landford Dixon expects that it may be possible to have the hotel in operation by the 1st of September.

Another Fruit Stand.—A. Wolf and son have had a small stand erected on the Pomainville lot next to C. Chen Bros., where they will sell fruit. It would seem that this class of business was already well supplied, but this may be a mistake.

Broke Her Collar Bone.—The seven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Schmetz broke her collar bone one day last week by falling from a swing. A surgeon reduced the fracture and she is getting along all right.

New Tailor Shop.—M. J. Slattery has opened a tailor shop upstairs over the Gross & Lyons company store, and would like to meet all of his old customers and give them prices on tailoring of all kinds. His ad. will be found in another column.

Express Office Moved.—The United States express office has been removed to the Mackinnon block where the concern has very nice quarters. The removal was made on Saturday.

As the result of a petition in bankruptcy filed at Madison on Monday by the Citizens' National bank of Stevens Point, the Coyo Table and Desk company was declared bankrupt, and Nelson A. Week was appointed receiver under a $10,000 bond. Mr. Week took charge of the plant and office today. The company began operations in February, 1902, and, owing to insufficient capital and unfortunate management lost from the start, though it had a paid up capital of about $54,000. Its liabilities are placed at $22,000, and its assets consist of the plant only, which cost $22,000. The principal creditors are the Citizens' National bank, the John Week Lumber company, and the small stockholders who indorsed its paper.

Many sick persons, suffering with chronic ailments will be glad to read Dr. McElwee's advertisement in another column. The doctor has arranged to spare a day in each month to Grand Rapids and those who desire may consult him at the Witter House on Friday, Aug. 14. The doctor enjoyed a large and successful practice at the Rapids for several years and it was only a pressure of Chicago appointments that compelled him to give up his regular visits here. No specialist is better known than Dr. McElwee throughout Wisconsin for the cures he gets in difficult cases and his patients may feel assured that they are entrusting their cases to a highly successful and strictly honorable physician.

Do So By All Means

[From the Chicago Journal.] Have your card in the hotel register by all means. Strangers stopping at a hotel over night generally buy a cigar or two before leaving town. Print in the blackest ink, a great sprawling card on all your wrapping paper. Ladies returning from a shopping tour like to be walking bulletins, and if the ink rubs off and spoils some of their finery—no matter. If an advertising canvasser wants your business advertised in a fancy frame at the depot—pay him about 500 per cent more than it is worth, and let him put it up in there. When a man has three-quarters of a second in which to catch a train, he invariably stops and reads the advertisements. Don't fail to advertise in every theatre program. It will help to pay their bills. Paint large signs on boards in empty lots, it helps the owner to pay his taxes and the sign painter to get rich, and encourage high art. A wagon or a boy with a big placard on a pole, or on his back, is an interesting object on the street and lends dignity to your establishment.

For The Farmers

Be Just To The Boy. Give the boy a chance to do something on the farm. Give him a small plot of ground and let him raise some crop on it which he is able to attend to properly, with such suggestions as you may be able to give him. After his crop is made, then buy it from him, or sell him a pig on credit and let him fatten it, and when he sells it let him pay rent on the land he used and also for the pig. Don't put him to raising chickens, at which, probably, you have already made a failure. Let him do some work whereby your suggestions from time to time will enable him to come out with a little money, if only a dollar or so, at the end of the year. Money which he has earned for himself, be it ever so little, is more satisfaction to him than would be thrice the amount given to him. He will thereby gain a knowledge of business and economics early in life, which can be a source of gratification to himself and his family in later years.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

SCIENCE AND OLD AGE.

Man Should Live Long Enough to Welcome, Not Dread, Death.

From twenty to fifty a man should live for himself and his family, from fifty to 100 for science and humanity and after a hundred for the state. Honored, useful, in full possession of all his faculties at sixscore years and ten, the graybeard of the approaching future will be among the most enviable of mankind, for the fear of death is an aberration.

The fact is that only one man in a million at present dies a natural death. We should live till 140 years of age. A man who expires at seventy or eighty is the victim of accident, cut off in the flower of his days, and he unconsciously resents being deprived of the fifty years or so which nature owes him. Leave him a little longer and in due time he will desire to die, as a child at dusk desires to sleep. The sandman will pass!

All our instincts drop from us one by one. The child cries for mother's milk. The idea of such an ailment is repugnant to the adult. The desires for sweets, for play, for love and love-making, for long walks and adventures are all impulses that have their day and pass, and the wish to live is an instinct which fails also with satiety. Only at present none of us lives long enough to be satiate with days.—Professor Metchnikoff's "Studies in Human Nature."

The Day After.

It is a strange omission that the day after, supreme and epoch making period of time, should have failed to receive the homage which is its just prerogative.

De Quincey, in his powerful bit of word painting entitled "The Knocking at the Gate," dwells on the thought that in "Macbeth" the climax of the tragedy, the moment most truly fraught with terror, is not the one in which occurs the murder of Duncan, or when the guilty pair nerve themselves for its accomplishment, but the moment when the first knocking at the gate is heard. With that summons from without comes an instant and terrible realization of what has taken place. In that moment of horror is condensed all the meaning of past crime and future retribution as in a lightning flash.

The magnitude of what has happened cannot be measured until the first touch of reaction has been felt. We cannot tell what has really occurred till the day after.—Atlantic.

Too Small to Obey.

When a certain couple were married the wife was sixteen years old and big and buxom. The husband was two years her senior, but slim to thinness and not up to the average in height. Ten years passed, and the couple got along as well as many couples do, but the wife was hard to manage. With the flight of time she became larger, while her theatrical lord and master added not an inch to his stature nor an ounce to his weight. One day he wanted her to do something, and she refused, at first quietly, then vehemently and finally explosively, "I'll not do it," she declared, "and I'd like to see you make me."

"But, Maria," expostulated her husband, "when you married me didn't you promise to obey me?"

"I did," she replied. Then, sizing up his diminutive proportions, she added, "But I expected you'd grow."

How to Make Pine Woods.

Farmers in the White mountains have discovered, or learned, what farmers elsewhere are slow to ascertain. It is that if you lop off the lower limbs of balsams when they are young the limbs will not grow again. Thus the tree as lumber will be improved. It will be free of knots.

Certain hotel owners, desiring pine lands near their hotels on account of healthfulness, asked a government forester how to get them. The reply was: "Cut off the hard woods, then turn the cattle in to pasture for three years. That will keep down the shoots of the hard woods, and the pines, which cattle avoid, will grow up, and their needles will keep down other growths."

Agnes Amolkoski had her husband arrested last week for assault and battery, the case was tried before Justice Cooper at Grand Rapids and the defendant was found guilty and fined $19.07. It moves the bowels naturally and promptly, without pain or griping, and certainly cures the headaches caused by constipation. We always give it to our children to regulate and correct any bowel troubles." Sold by Sam Church, Druggist.

SHERRY.

Miss Emma Wussaw was a caller in your city one day last week and while there called on her many friends who were pleased to see her as Miss Emma seems to be almost a stranger in your town.

How to Remove Paint From Glass.
Splashes of paint on glass left for any time will become hard. To remove them take boiling water and in it dissolve a lump of soda, a piece about the size of an egg to a pint of water. Wet a cloth or piece of flannel in this and rub the marks, when they will be found to come off quite easily.

How to Make Salads.
A salad should always be properly washed, not in one, but at the very least in three or four waters. It should then be carefully dried leaf by leaf. It is impossible to produce a successful salad if the green stuff in question is in the least degree damp. Again, a salad should never be cut with a knife, not even a silver knife. When washed and dried it should be torn into pieces of a suitable size. Thirdly, the oil and vinegar used should be in the proportion of two spoonsful of the former to one of the latter.

How to Clean Silk Dresses.
A little ammonia in a few teaspoonfuls of alcohol is excellent to sponge silk dresses that have grown shiny or rusty, as well as to take out spots. A silk, particularly a black, becomes almost like new when so sponged.

How to Treat a Bruised Finger.
If in hammering in a nail you by mistake hit your finger or thumb hold the injured member in water as hot as you can bear for a few minutes. This draws out the inflammation and relieves the pain in a wonderful way.

How to Make Orangade.
Slice three sweet oranges and one lemon into a jug with two ounces of sugar candy. Pour over this one quart of boiling water. Stir at intervals till cold.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and restoring normal conditions. The proprietors have secured the faith of the entire people by their cures of Catarrh. Do not fail to get a bottle of this cure. Send for test.

Not The Same.

Goin' shoppin' pears to me.
Isn't what it used to be.
Used to drive up to the store.
Leave the team out by the door,
Trade our truck for calico,
Tea an' sech; and off we'd go.
Nowadays ye're at a loss.
To pick out the real boss.
They don't stop to tell you jokes.
Never saw sech dressed-up folks.
An' the goods that they display
Fairly takes your breath away.
Everything's trimmed up so grand—
Looks to me like fairyland.
An' the goods you kin procure—
Garden tools and literature.
Furniture with spindle legs.
Turkish rugs an' fresh-laid eggs.
Everywhere you cast your eye
There is things you'd like to buy.
All tired out when night arrives.
Couldn't stop to save our lives.
With the mornin's earliest ray
All on hand for bargain day.
Goin' shoppin'! Gracious me!
Isn't what it used to be.

Kipling's View.

Rudyard Kipling evidently had troubles of his own, as well as John Wesley. He did not have the fortitude of the founder of Methodism, however. This is the way he got even:

THE VAMPIRE.

A fool there was and he made his prayer
(Even as you and I)
To a rag and a bone and a hank of hair
(We called her a woman who did not care),
But the fool he called her his lady fair
(Even as you and I).

Oh! the tears we waste and the tears we waste
And the work of head and hand.
Belong to the woman who did not know
(And now we knew that she never could know)
And did not understand.

A fool there was and his goods he spent
(Even as you and I)
Honor and faith a sure intent
(And it wasn't the last that the lady meant)
But a fool must follow his natural bent
(Even as you and I).

Oh! the toil we lost and the spoil we lost,
And the excellent things we planned
Belong to the woman who didn't know why
(And now we know that she never knew why)
And did not understand.

The fool was stripped to his foolish hide
(Even as you and I)
Which she might have seen when she threw him aside—
(But it isn't on record the lady tried,
So some of them lived but the most of them died—
(Even as you and I).

And it isn't the shame and it isn't the blame
That stings like a red-hot brand—
It's coming to know that she never knew why
(Seeing at last she could never know why)
And never could understand.
—Rudyard Kipling.
